Rollovers

Certain beneficiaries may take advantage of rollovers. Estates, charities, corporations, businesses, non look-through trusts, and LLCs are not allowed to take advantage of rollovers.

A decedent's spouse beneficiary may roll over any retirement plan source to another employer-sponsored retirement plan or to an IRA in the spouse's name. In regards to Roth 401(k) and Roth 403(b) sources, these may be rolled over only to a Roth IRA or to another employer's retirement plan that accepts a rollover of Roth accounts. When the beneficiary is a look-through trust, the spouse is a first-level beneficiary of the trust, and the trust allows for a distribution to the spouse, the trustee may direct Fidelity to effect a rollover in the name of the spouse rather than in the name of the trust. Verify that the employer-sponsored retirement plan will accept the rollover.

A decedent's non-spouse beneficiary who is a person or a look-through trust may roll over any sources to an inherited IRA, except for Roth 401(k) or Roth 403(b) sources. When a look-through trust applies, the inherited IRA will be in the name of the trust.

A look-through trust must comply with the IRS MRD rules. For more information see page 865, Q&A 5, at <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-irbs/irb02-19.pdf>.

Rollovers to or from 457(b) nongovernmental plans are not allowed.

If you choose a direct rollover to a Fidelity IRA and you do not have a Fidelity IRA, you must establish your IRA(s) either online at Fidelity.com or complete a Fidelity Investments Rollover IRA application.

Income Tax Withholding

Outstanding loans. If a loan is outstanding at the time of a decedent's death, the loan is treated as a taxable distribution to the decedent. Please call Fidelity at 1-800-343-0860 for more information.

Eligible rollover amounts. Eligible rollover amounts are amounts where the beneficiary may roll the death proceeds to another retirement plan or to an IRA, other than those types of payments described below in the non-eligible rollover section. Eligible rollover amounts that are not rolled directly to an IRA or another retirement plan are subject to mandatory withholding of 20% for federal income taxes. A beneficiary who is a spouse cannot elect out of this withholding.

Non-eligible rollover amounts that apply to beneficiaries. The following payments are not considered eligible rollover amounts: a minimum required distribution (MRD); substantially equal payments paid to a beneficiary over at least ten years; or, if less, the beneficiary's life expectancy; and payments from an account in a nongovernmental 457(b) plan.

Default federal income tax withholding. Taxable amounts that are not eligible for rollover are subject to federal income tax withholding unless the beneficiary elects out of withholding. If the payment(s) occurs in one tax year (a non-periodic payment), the default federal income tax withholding is 10%. When the payments are made over two or more tax years, the default federal income tax withholding is based on the withholding tables using married (filing joint return) with three withholding allowances. Payments to beneficiaries of a decedent's account in a nongovernmental 457(b) plan are not subject to mandatory withholding.

The beneficiary may elect more or less withholding or even no withholding. The beneficiary may include an IRS Form W-4P to direct Fidelity on the amount to withhold. The beneficiary of a nongovernmental 457(b) account may include an IRS Form W-4. Fidelity will follow beneficiary direction subject to plan rules.

State income taxes. Please note that some states require Fidelity Investments to withhold state income taxes. Fidelity is unable to withhold additional state taxes in excess of the amount required by state withholding tables.

Payments to addresses outside of the United States. If you are a nonresident alien, you must submit IRS Form W-8BEN, Certificate of Foreign Status of Beneficial Owner for United States Tax Withholding, with this distribution request form to claim applicable tax treaty benefits. Please note that a payment to an address outside of the United States may be withheld at a 30% rate unless the nonresident alien payee submits a completed IRS Form W-8BEN. Please go to the IRS Web site, www.irs.gov, to download the form. IRS Publication 901, Table 1 provides tax withholding rate information when form W-8BEN is provided. If you provide an address that is outside the United States and its possessions, you may not elect out of withholding.

Signatures

Please sign and date in the space provided in order to avoid delays in processing your request.

A signature guarantee is required when a beneficiary account is establish(ed) if plan sponsor approval is not required in Step 6. You may also need a signature guarantee when you request a distribution and plan sponsor approval is not required in Step 6 for distribution amounts over $100,000 or when a change in address applies. See page 9 for details.

You may obtain a Medallion signature guarantee or any other signature guarantee for at least the estimated value of your distribution by contacting a Fidelity Investor Center; a national or state bank; savings banks in New York and Massachusetts; trust companies; federal savings and loan associations; or members of the New York, American, Boston, Midwest, or Pacific Stock Exchanges. Many of these organizations may participate in the Medallion signature guarantee program.

When you obtain a signature guarantee, please tell the person who provides the signature guarantee of the estimated amount of the distribution and ask if the signature guarantee that he or she is providing is sufficient for the transferred amount. If the signature guarantee that you obtain is not a Medallion signature guarantee, please include the name and telephone number of the person who supplies the signature guarantee. Please note that a notarized signature is not a substitute for a signature guarantee.

A Medallion signature guarantee contains a number with a letter prefix. The prefix letter indicates the degree of liability the guarantor is willing to assume. The degree of liability and the transaction amount must correspond to the letter prefix. If the letter prefix does not match the degree of liability, your distribution request will be returned for the proper letter prefix.

3. MINIMUM REQUIRED DISTRIBUTIONS

The minimum required distribution (MRD) rules differ for beneficiaries who are a spouse of a decedent, non-spouse persons, estate and other non-persons, and trusts. The rules also differ depending on whether the decedent dies before or after his or her MRD beginning date—that is, the date that the decedent was required to take MRD payments. Two sets of MRD payment methods that apply to beneficiaries when the participant dies before the required beginning date are the Five Year Method and the Life Expectancy Method.

As a beneficiary you can determine the annual amount of MRD payment that you wish to have Fidelity pay to you by completing all of Section 3A below. Or you can request Fidelity to calculate the MRD amount and automatically make payment to you by completing all of Sections 3A and 3B below. Payments may be determined by a specific dollar amount to be paid this calendar year, or a series of payments under the Five Year Method or the Life Expectancy Method.

If you elect the Five Year Method on this form, a schedule is developed to pay your MRD payments over a period not to extend beyond December 20 of the 5th anniversary year after the decedent died. If you are eligible and you elect the Life Expectancy Method, payments will be based on your life expectancy in accordance with an IRS Table. If the decedent died after his or her MRD required beginning date and the decedent's life expectancy was longer than your life expectancy, the decedent's MRD schedule of payments will apply. Please note that if the account owner died on or after his or her RBD (required beginning date), the MRD payment for the calendar year in which the account owner died must be satisfied as though the account owner were still living. If the account owner had received the required MRD amount during the calendar year of death, there would not be an additional MRD payment for that year. Special rules may apply to Trusts and Estates for the Five Year Method.

3A. Payment Amount, Method and Frequency. Complete: 3A.1., 3A.2., and 3A.3.

3A.1. Payment Amount. Choose one.

Payment Amount $ This amount will be treated as your annual MRD payment for this calendar year. Complete 3A.3 below. Do not complete 3A.2 in this Section or Section 3B below.

3A.3. Indicate how you would like to receive your payment(s):
